H2Oh! RIVER WEEKEND MAKES A SPLASH AT CARNEGIE SCIENCE CENTER

LEARN ABOUT THE SCIENCE OF OUR THREE RIVERS AND WHY THEY MATTER

PITTSBURGH, June 24, 2022 — Families and friends of all ages are invited to take a deeper look at Pittsburgh's three rivers at H2Oh! River Weekend, July 16–17, presented by Alcosan.

From 10 am–5 pm, learn how to turn river water into clean drinking water through chemistry, turn water vapor into a cloud in a bottle, and meet the freshwater ambassador animals at the Science Center, many of which are native species. For outdoor fun, visitors can go on a river bingo scavenger hunt on the North Shore for an immersive learning experience. "Tracing the path of water from the river to your kitchen sink and exploring how everyone can take easy steps to protect water resources are just a few of the many interesting things you will discover as we highlight the H2Oh! exhibit experiences on River Weekend," says Jason Brown, Henry Buhl, Jr. Director of Carnegie Science Center. "We'll delve into the fun science of water!"

H2Oh! River Weekend activities are included in general admission and open to all ages.
